

Volume 76, Issue 2
2020

vi • The Purposes and Connections of School – Heather Greenhalgh-Spencer

1 • First-Person Authority and Positionality as Bridges in Social Justice Education
– Lauren Bialystok

Response to Bialystok

17 • Called to Listen – Jo Hinsdale

28 • A Utility Account of Liberal Education – Jane Gatley

Response to Gatley

39 • Re-thinking Liberal Education: Making the Case for Instrumentalism – Canute Thompson

44 • The Educational History of Althusser's Ideological
State Apparatuses: Rancière's Frustration – David Backer

Response to Backer

60 • Oppositional Collaboration - Jessica Davis

66 • Crossing Without a Bridge: Reconsidering Postsecondary Transition and Outcomes for Individuals with Learning Disabilities - Derek Daskalakes

Response to Daskalakes

84 • Bridging the College Outcomes Gap: Is it Possible? -

Susan Verducci

90 • Existentially Expelled: School Expulsion and the Student - Addyson Frattura

Response to Frattura

105 • The Dialectic of Expulsion: An Existentialist Account of Positive Freedom - Dini Metro-Roland

111 • This Is Our World: Arendt's Notion of Storytelling and Its Place in Education - Stefan Dorosz

Response to Dorosz

124 • Arendt on Narrative, Then and Now - James Stillwag-

on

130 • The Subjectification Function of Education: A Proposal for a Cross-Curricular Understanding - Claudia Ruiten-berg

Response to Ruitenberg

147 • Teaching and Learning for Subjectification - AG Rud

153 • Dewey's Business Ethics and Education: Bridging

Public-Private Tensions? - Deron Boyles

Response to Boyles

168 • Dewey's Charge to Resist Fatalism in Business and Education: From "The Way the World Is" to Creative Intelligence - Jeff Frank

173 • Bridging the Theory and Empiry of Learning from Failure - Aline Nardo and Dragan Trninic

Response to Nardo and Trninic

189 • Terrifyingly Productive – Samuel D. Rocha

194 • Religion, Queerness, and Education: Strategies for Bridge Building in Antagonistic Times - Seán Henry